Merchant George W. Hays greatly improved the grounds in front of his store on west Water street this week by laying a concrete "wharf" just outside the curb to take the place of the pond of water that accumulated there after every rain. The most daintily shod shopper can now step from her carriage to the sidewalk without soiling her tango slippers.

House Burned.

On Tuesday morning the dwelling house of Dowl Oakman, near Laidig was totally destroyed by fire, together with almost all its contents. Attached to the main house was a back kitchen covered with felt roofing, and it is thought that a spark from the chimney fell on this roofing and started the fire. This is a serious loss to Mr. Oakman, for there was little, if any, insurance.

DAIRYMAID CREAM SEPARATORS

ARE MONEY MAKERS

The farmer who realizes how carefully Dairymaid cream separators are designed, out of what materials they are built, the simplicity and strength of all their parts, and, at the last, the minute and thorough tests each machine must pass, knows that the machine he wants is a Dairymaid.

The extra profits the Dairymaid means for your dairy are due to the features in its construction. To appreciate them you must study the Dairymaid yourself. You must see the easy running accessible gears; the phosphor bronze bushings; the splash oiling system; the convenient height for operating; the clarifying chamber that takes out all impurities before separation; the skimming devices that make for extra close skimming; etc.

It will interest you to see these and other points. Call at the Dairymaid dealer and study them. If you write us we will send you catalogues.

Mrs. Charles Lynch.

After a short illness, Mrs. Myrtle A. Lynch, wife of Charles Lynch, died at the home of her father-in-law Dallas Lynch, Friday morning, July 10, 1914, aged 23 years, 1 month, and 25 days.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Crouse and was reared at Big Cove Tannery. The funeral services took place on Saturday, and interment was made at Antioch, the Rev. A. D. Dotterman officiating.

She is survived by her husband and two children—Nathaniel and Frank; also, by her mother and three brothers—Charles, Donald and Mack of Big Cove Tannery, and three sisters, Mrs. Joseph Wishart, Big Cove Tannery; Mrs. Frank McFadden, residing in Ohio, and Miss Mary Crouse, at Foltz, Pa.

Popular "Health Resort."

One of the most popular health resorts in this section of Pennsylvania—at least, the one most largely patronized by Fulton county people, is located in our neighboring town of Chambersburg. Judging from the large number of persons who have been its patrons during the past few months, it is preferred to Saratoga Springs, Atlantic City, and even to our neighboring Bedford Springs with its abundance of healing waters. So well satisfied have been its patrons, that each one on returning home, becomes an enthusiastic advertiser of the merits of the place. Our former townsman D. B. Nace, is the business manager, and is especially alert to the comfort and interests of Fulton county people. We had nearly forgotten to say that the name of the "resort" is the Chambersburg Hospital. Among the more recent guests from this county are Ira Kerlin, Miss Ruth Kendall, Mrs. George Grissinger, Mrs. T. J. Comerer, Mrs. E. R. McClain, Mrs. Wilbur Grissinger, Alfred Sipes, Charlie Black, and Abram Pittman's daughter.
